JOHN RAY.

Be polite; be agreeable. There is nothing that will bring you such quick returns with so little invested. A smile takes nothing away from your face, but it beautifies it. A good action is a good cause, a civil word to the lowly, a helping hand to the needy, kindness to the suffering, and gentle words for all, will bring you love in return, and will become you more than anything else that I know of.

Mr. Bentley was a young man who did not believe that politeness paid

'I hate to see an everlasting grin on anybody's face,' he said one day, when he and several others were discussing the subject of politeness. 'In the struggle of life it is every one for himself. I have no time, nor inclination, nor hypocrisy, to be spreading my mouth to a forced smile to everyone. I choose my companions and friends, and they are few and select.

And this was Mr. Bentley's character. He was taciturn, morose, and utterly selfish. He never helped anyone in distress or trouble. He never tried to cheer the sick nor solace the bereaved. Even his "few and select" friends knew he could not be depended on in a case of emergency. He rejoiced in perfect health, and never thought that his strong frame would some day lie prostrate, languishing, helpless with disease. He was prosperous, not rich, but held a position that was remunerative, never dreaming that he might possibly lose that position. But in less than a year from the time he uttered the above sentiment, he had lost it and was out of employment.

The most prosperous will meet with reverses. Sometimes they teach great lessons. Mr. Bentley should have deducted a lesson from the reverses that followed in the wake of his loss of position. But he did not. He had no friends to rally to his aid, for he had taken no trouble to make friends in his prosperity. He made every effort to procure another position, but all situations in his town seemed full.

He answered an advertisement in an O—— paper. The city of O——was 50 miles away. In a short time he received a reply to his letter of application. The letter was from the firm of Thomas Brothers, and it invited the young man to pay them a visit in person as soon as possible. If his papers, personal appearance, etc., suited them, they would employ him on a salary of one thousand dollars a year. This was far better than he expected. His luck was returning. He donned his finest clothes; his head was lost in the clouds. He did not see Mr. Little nod, nor hear Mr. Small speak. Oh, no. What had he to do with the common herd? He could not see the poor and blind organ grinder, or drop a penny in his box. Not he! He was on his way to O—— for the one thousand dollar clerkship.

An old lady at the depot stopped him.

'Will you please tell me—'

But she was interrupted by the would-be one thousand dollar clerk.

'Madam,' he said, rudely, 'that ticket agent is paid to answer questions—apply to him.'

'Yes—but—sir—' She stopped, for he had walked away and left her. 'Law, what will I do?' she cried. 'The agent hasen't got any better manners than he has. When I was young, men didn't treat old women like that. Well, lawme! I wish Eli was here. This is the very last time I shall go any place alone. Oh, my—oy, dear—the train is coming—how will I get on, or how am I to tell when I get on the right one? I'm just sure to get on the wrong one—oh, goodness me! Say, please—Mr.—sir! will you help me?' again stopping Mr. Bentley. 'Is this the train that goes north? Take this satchel for me—oh!' Mr. Bentley turned red and hurridly passed her. 'Oh, shall I be left!'

'Let me help you,' said a kindly voice, and the old lady looked up to find a young man in a thread-bare coat, but with a frank and open countenance reaching out his hand for her bundles.

She surrendered them to his care, and thanked him heartily. He took her to the train, saw her safely and comfortably seated, and then found a seat for himself in the same coach, in order to see her safely to the station where she was going.

The old lady left the train at L——, as did Mr. Bentley and the young stranger. They hurried off to take the stage, as O—— was not a railroad town.

'Madam,' said the stage driver, as the old lady went to get into the stage, 'my order is to collect the fair before starting.'

The old lady fumbled in her pocket a minute then uttered an exclamation of dismay.

'My goodness gracious! I forgot to bring my money! Eli—that's my husband—told me I'd forget it. What shall I do—oh, what shall I do?' And she dropped a bundle, tried to pick it up, and dropped another. 'I am going to O——,' continued the distressed old lady. 'I am going there to see my sons. They will pay you, indeed they will, if you will—'

'Won't do,' said the driver. 'My orders are strict. Can't disobay orders. Won't take any risks—for you know I might lose my job. Maybe this gentleman will loan you the money,' pointing to our friend, Mr. Bentley, who was seated in one corner of the coach; 'or, what'll be the same to me, will guarantee the pay.'

'Oh, will you?' cried the old lady,' appealing to that gentleman. 'Indeed, my sons will pay you. They are—'

But she was interrupted.

'Never mind what your sons are—I don't care to have their biography just now.' Then, turning to the man, he said, 'Don't be so free with your suggestions, my friend.'

'I presumed—' began the driver.

'You presumed in your ignorance,' interrupted Mr. Bentley, harshly. 'If I should give money to all the beggars I see, I should be unable to pay my wash bill. What are you waiting for? I tell you I'm in a hurry to reach O—'

'I tell you,' said the big driver, in an angry voice, and looking at Mr. Bentley fiercely, 'that I may be presumptuous and ignorant, but I am a man as won't take an insult without resenting it. If you can't be more civil, I'll take the liberty of dumping you out of there in the first mud hole we come to. As for going, I'll go when I get ready and not a minute before.'

But nevertheless, he immediately prepared to start. The old lady grew wild.

'Oh, must I be left?' she cried. 'What will my sons, Peter and William think? I wish Eli was here. I'll never leave home again without Eli—oh, stop! Wait! Will some one—' and she ran against the same young man who had helped her on the train at C——. 'Oh, I am so glad! I know you will help me!' And she caught the young man's hand in hers. 'I want to go to O——, sir, and I left my money at home—and I must get there to-day.'

'I am on my way there myself,' said the youth with a troubled air. 'I was going there to see the Thomas Brothers about a position in their store. I ought to be there to-day—to-morrow may be too late—but—but—well, you shall go—I—yes—you shall go!'

He took out a purse and emptied the contents in the hand of the old lady; just barely enough to pay one fare on the stage to O——.

'Oh, but how will you get there,' asked she, 'if you give me all your money?'

'I can walk,' he answered cheerily. 'Never mind me. I am used to walking.'

'You are an honor to your mother,' said the woman with emotion. 'A good mother, I'll be bound.' And then, seeing the tears spring to his eyes, she surmised that he had recently lost that mother, and continued: 'Yes, I understand; and you couldn't bear to see an old lady in trouble without helping her for your own dear mother's sake. What is your name? My sons will pay you as soon as you reach O—.'

'My name is John Ray,' he said.

'Well, good-bye, John Ray,' said the old lady, as he helped her into the coach. 'I wish you success. I think you will get the place.' She nodded vigorously, 'Yes, yes, I hope you will, John Ray.' And, with beaming eyes, she shook John Ray's hands as vigorously as she nodded. 'Oh, won't Eli—what won't he do when I tell him?'

'Are you all ready?' cried out the driver. 'Because if you ain't, I want you to understand I ain't in any hurry; take your time. All ready, hey? Then off we go!'

And off they went, leaving John Ray to walk twenty miles. And the simple soul filling his place in the coach would shed tears whenever she thought of him walking wearily alone over the road. But her eyes shone through the tears. Could you see those tears, John, the road would sem shorter. Could you know the gratitude in that good heart, your limbs would be less weary.

They at length arrived at O—. Mr. Bentley registered his name, in a large hand, in the most aristocratic hotel in that city.

'Much depends,' he soliloquized, 'on appearances. Should I put up at a less pretentious house than this, it might be the means of my failing to get the position I am after.' Then he thought of John Ray, and the fragment of conversation he had overheard between him and the old lady. 'Ha! ha!' he laughed at the thought. 'What kind of a chance can so shabby a fellow have against me?' I am not quite sure but that the "me" should begin with a capital letter. It sounded so very important. 'He is trudging along now between here and L—. Why what a fool the fellow is! I am sitting comfortably here—shall soon eat a warm supper—while he is dragging himself along hungry and tired, and without money to buy anything to eat, or a place in which to sleep.'

He seemed to take delight in these reflections. The contemplation of the deprivation and suffering of others seems to be a prodigious comfort to many. It had quite a solacing effect on Mr. Bentley, for he was not rich. It must be admitted that his success depended on his securing this position with the Thomas Brothers.

It was late in the evening when the stage reached O—— and the business house of Thomas Bros. was closed. But early the next morning Mr. Bentley waited on the brothers, and presented his recommendations. There were other applicants, among whom was John Ray. Mr. Bentley would not recognize him. Truly, if it depended on appearances John Bay stood no possible chance for the situation.

'Good papers!' cried William Thomas, when he had finished reading Mr. Bentley's references.

'Splendid recommendations!' echoed the brother. 'Best ones we have received yet. Is it not so, William?'

Mr. Bentley flushed with pleasure and swelled with vanity.

'Where are your papers, young man?' asked William, turning to John Ray, who sat quietly with his face averted. No wonder, for his hopes were fleeing away, and he knew his face would show his disappointment.

'I have none,' he said. 'I never filled a like position, sir, and consequently can give no references.'

'You must have references,' said the brothers, 'or we cannot consider your application.'

'I have none,' again said John Ray; and now all hopes had flown, and his pale face showed it.

'I think, young man, you come well recommended,' said William. 'Does he not Peter?'

Peter laughed and nodded, and the brothers got closer to John Ray.

'The best reference in the world,' cried Peter, with such an affectionate look at John that William feared he meant to embrace him, and put out his hand to prevent it, for fear of spoiling the denouement.

John looked puzzled. They both laughed and repeated.

'Good recommendation! Mother!' they called, and in came the old lady of the day before. 'Mother, which of these young men do you recommend to us for a clerk?'

The old lady walked straight up to John and said:

'I recommend by all means, my dear sons, the young man who was kind enough to aid a helpless 'old beggar' to reach home; who loved the memory of his mother so well that he walked 20 long miles to let your mother ride. Not for a reward, boys. No, though he was poor and helpless; and now, if a deed like that won't recommend John Ray more than all the recommendations that were ever written, indeed, then I don't know my dear boys.'

And each of the brothers got John by the hand, while Mr. Bentley retired with a crestfallen air.

Let us hope that this little episode taught Mr. Bentley the lesson that kindness brings its own reward. That to be loved by our fellow-man is the highest earthly pleasure to be enjoyed. That to be kind and sociable to all is to win love. To be accommodating, sympathizing, helpful, is to retain that love when won. That no good action or kind word is lost, but is written with an indelible pen in the Recording Angel's Book, and preserved through eternity.

A SLICE OF LUCK.

A traveler in the south of France was recently going through a forest, when he suddenly met with a dozen, as he thought, suspicious characters. His first thought was of escape; but, to his great astonishment, one of them came forward, and, after some conversation about trees, summarily offered one hundred napoleons if he would retire. The traveler said he had no objection, and to his surprise the sum was given him, and he went on his way rejoicing. He applied to the authorities when he discovered that a large sale of forest trees took place that day, to which the local buyers had been bidden, and these men composed a 'knock-out,' that is, had conspired to prevent any one else bidding, in order that they might obtain the timber at a cheap rate. The traveler was supposed by them to be a well-known timber merchant, and to have entered the forest for the purpose of bidding, so he was bought off.

Tramp—"Will you please give me ten cents, sir? I'm on my way home to die."

Gentleman—(handing him the money)—"I don't mind giving you ten cents for so worthy a purpose as that, but your breath smells terribly of whiskey."

Tramp—"I know it does, sir. Whiskey's what's killin' me."

Kicking a Governor.

In the summer of 1878 there was a gathering of executive officers of different States at Cape May, and Governor Thomas L. Young, of Ohio, was among the number. He and B. K. Jamison were friends, so the latter tendered him the use of his beautiful cottage for himself and staff during their stay at the seashore. One afternoon a number of gentlemen called to be introduced to the governor, who was busy up-stairs playing euchre. He was 'going it alone' at the time, and, turning to Jamison, said: 'Wait until I make my march and then I'll go to the reception with you.' He didn't make his march, however, but on the contrary, greatly to his disgust, he was 'euchred.' Rising from his chair he turned his back to his host and said: 'Jamison, I wish you would give me a good kick; I feel that I deserve it.' His host replied, 'You don't mean it governor?' 'Indeed I do,' was Tom's response. 'Try me and see.'

The words had hardly left his lips when the toe of Jamison's boot struck the governor with such suddenness that the concussion nearly sent him over on his face. The guests were horrified for a moment, but the governor, with the greatest honor, said: 'Boys, I got off with very light punishment. Out in Ohio when a man gets euchred on a lone hand they usually take him out and hang him to the nearest lamp post.' Then he went down and received his visitors. That night, before retiring, the governor said: 'Jamison, do you know that you would make a capital soldier!'

'No,' was? the reply. 'What makes you think so?'

'Because you are so obedient to orders. Obedience, you know, is the first duty of a soldier, and you have the A B C's down fine. Will you accept a commission on my staff? It means a colonelcy.'

Mr. Jamison didn't see any harm in accepting, and when Gov. Young returned to Ohio he forwarded the commission duly signed and sealed. Then a difficulty arose. Mr. Jamison was a citizen of Pennsylvania, and the commission required that he shou'd swear allegiance to the State of Ohio. This provision was stricken out, and then 'K. B. Jamison' became 'aid-de-camp on the staff of his Excellency, Thomas L. Young, governor of Ohio, with the rank and title of colonel.' The commission, handsomely framed, now hangs in the handsome residence of Col. Jamison in West Philadelphia, and he prizes it very highly.—Philadelphia News.

How the New Mexicans Capture Ants.

An automatic combination self-adjusting ant trap and intoxicating machine has been in use for years in New Mexico and Arizona, which is worthy of careful civilized attention. The chief blessing of that arid section is held to be mescal, a fiery liquor distilled from a species of cactus, and the principle curse is an immense black ant that considers himself proprietor of any premises to which his nest may belong. It is said that the natives could not live without either the muscal or the ants, for while it is only mescal that can make a Mexican's life endurable with the ants, it is only the ants that wake a Mexican from the profound coma into which the mescal plunges him.

The ancient Mexican method of trying to get rid of an ant's nest was to fill up the main hatch with fine gunpowder and touch it off, keep a fire burning over it night and day for a week, or drown it out with boiling lye. The only result was that the ants would stay down cellar until the trouble was over, and then cheerfully repair the damage done to their dwelling, and 'lay for' the Mexican in the silent watches of the night with a vigor and alacrity that were truly awful.

One day a desperate Mexican poured a quart of mescal down his throat and buried the bottle in the corner of the principal ant's nest in his yard, with the intention of filling it with gunpowder and blowing both himself and his enemies out of the territory. Having buried the bottle to the neck, he went to the trader's to get the powder. When he returned, he found that the bottle was filled with ants, whom curiosity had prompted to drop in, and who, unable to climb out, were indulging in a rough and tumble free fight that did the Mexican's heart no end of good. Another bottle was quickly procured and filled, and by sunset the Mexican found himself proprietor of seven quarts of ants in various stages of mutilation and wrath. To shake these into a bonfire was easy, and thus in a day the colony was broken up forever.

The writer has seen two pounds of rifle powder rammed into an ant's nest and prove ineffective in its destruction, while by the bottle system the work was thoroughly accomplished in less than a week by the capture of the last ant in the community.—Scientific American.

The Man who Never Forgot a Face

The passenger who was never known to forget a face sat down beside a freckled young man with a sandy mustache.

"Seems to me I've seen you before," said the never-forget-you passenger.

"Possibly," replied the freckled young man, "my name is Smith, of Jonesville, Mich."

"What! Smith, of Jonesville."

"Yes, John Smith, of Jonesville. Did you ever live in Jonesville?"

"Should say I did. Lived there ten years. Knew I had seen you somewhere before. I never forget a face. I knew you as soon as I sot eyes on you. Never forgot a face in my life."

"How long since you left that old town?"

"Let me see; it was twenty-seven years last June. That's a long time ain't it? Hain't been back there since, but your face is as fresh in my mind as if it were only yesterday.

"Now this is odd," said the freckled young man; you haven't been in Jonesville for twenty-seven years. I haven't been out of it for twenty-seven years, and I am just twenty seven years old. I must have been born the year you left our town. Do you still think you remember me?"

"Remember you, lad? Why, I know you the second I saw you. I was your godfather at your christening, and you think I would forget a face that was impressed on my mind in so solemn a ceremony as that? No, siree. I never forget a face, young man, never."

A Young One.

A man in pursuit of a goose for his dinner was attracted by the sight of a plump, extra-sized one.

'Is that a young one?' said he to the rosy-cheeked lass in attendance.

'Yes, sir, indeed it is,' was the reply.

'How much do you want for it?' he asked.

'A dollar, sir.'

'That is too much, I think; say five eighths and here's your money.'

'Well, sir, as I would like to get you as a steady customer, take it.'

The goose was carried home and roasted, but was found to be so tough as to be uneatable. The following day the man accosted the fair poulterer:—

'Did you not tell me that goose was young which I bought of you?'

'Yes, sir, I did, and it was.

'No, it was not.'

'Don't you call me a young woman? I'm only nineteen?'

'Yes.'

'Well, I've heard mother say, many a time, that he was nearly six weeks younger than me.'

His Private Mark.

A mild-mannered German cook, who does business in a small way in Grand street, chanced to fall overboard from an East river ferryboat. He was rescued after much trouble by three young men—a hand and two longshoremen. While the German's recovery seemed a matter of extreme uncertainty the three young men quarreled over the credit of having rescued him. Each man wished the glory of shining on the station-house blotter as a rescuer, with perhaps the chance of subsequent material reward. Before they had succeeded in settling the matter to their mutual satisfaction they were forcibly drawn apart by the police.

'See here,' said the officer, 'you can't settle this thing by fighting.'

'That's so,' assented the smallest of the three. 'I can prove without fighting that I saved that man.'

'Let's see you do it, then, and be lively.'

'I've got my private mark on him.'

'Show your mark and give us less of your jaw.'

The young man stepped blithely to the side of the half-conscious man, pulled aside the blanket that covered him, and pointed triumphantly to a two-inch gash in the fleshy part of his back. 'There!' said he; 'there's my private mark! There's where I struck the boat-hook into him!'

His name went down on the police blotter without further question.—New York Times.

A sunshade has been devised for soldiers in hot countries. It is made of bamboo and paper, and has no appreciable weight. It is fastened to the shoulders and leaves the hands and arms free. Something of the same kind has, we believe, been patented in this country.

The Home of Presidents.

A Tour Through the Rooms of the White House.

Beauties of the Executive Mansion—The Parlors—Handsome Hallways—President's Dining-Room.

Up the steps of the portico and through the large entrance vestibule, we see an inner corridor separated from it by a handsome screen of glass mosaic. It is in itself a spacious apartment, eighteen feet wide and 100 long, reaching from the middle of the east room at one end to the conservatory at the other. South of this corridor are three parlors, named respectively the Green room, Blue room and Red room, from the prevailing color of decorations and furniture. West of the Red parlor, at the extreme southwestern end of the mansion, is the state dinning-room, and on the north side of the corridor, directly opposite, we find the President's private dining-room, which occupies—with butler's pantry and the servants' waiting room immediately adjoining—the northwest front of the building. Under this room, in the basement, is the kitchen. On the north side of the corridor is also situated the private staircase leading to the chambers. This portion of the corridor, which is the length of the state dining-room, can be separated at will from the more public and longer portion on the east, by double doors of inlain mahogany.

This long hall-way is an important part of the White House, and is treated accordingly. It is only lighted in the day time by the doors opening into the parlors and from the open arches over the jeweled screen, so that no photographer has been able to secure a good picture. The walls, painted a warm creamy-gray, are finished with a stenciled frieze, two feet deep, light green, gold and crimson, in conventional designs. The ceiling, a lighter tint of gray, is covered with figures in mixed colors, interspersed with brown and silver decorations in relief. A large semi-circular niche in the wall immediately opposite the front entrance and screen door, is gilded and contains a circular table of ebony and marble.

This crimson Axminister carpet, well covered with small figures of a deeper shade, imparts a richness of tone which is very desirable in the half-light of the day, and which responds, at night, to the light of three immense crystal chandeliers. The furniture frames are ebony; the fabric, cream-colored brocade figured with shaded crimson. On the walls hang the portraits of most of the Presidents, save that of Washington, which is in the East room, and those of Van Buren, J. Q. Adams and Arthur in the Red parlor and Jefferson in the Library room above. In the western angles the busts of Washington and Hamilton, on pedestals of ebony, gaze with sightless eyes upon the ever-changing panorama.

The private corridor on the west is fitted up still more like a reception room. Each corner angle is cut off by a tall cabinet of ebony, containing faience and plants in majolica holders; doorways are hung with portieres of Turkoman, in brown, yellow and crimson, with horizontal stripes, and there are Eastlake chairs of ebony with seats and backs of embossed leather. A hexagon table with rosewood frame and marble top, according to tradition, was frequently used by Jackson, when he lived in the White House, about the only article, in this part of the building, left from that comparatively late period. The wall tints of the private corridor are darker than those of the larger one—a kind of greenish gray—with a parti-colored Japanese frieze, thirty inches deep. The broad staircase with one long landing, leading to the second story, is finished with a hand rail and balusters of mahogany, and from the large carved newel-post a female figure in bronze, nearly life-size, holds, metaphorically a torch, in reality a very prosaic gas fixture. The remaining figure consists of a mahogany table, before a mirror framed in the same wood.

At the foot of the stairs a door on the left or north side, leads into the President's private dining room. The walls of this room are hung with heavy paper, imitating leather, a gilt ground with vines of shaded olive and crimson, and a frieze, thirty inches deep, of dark torra-cotta stamped velvet, with gilt molding. The ceiling is greenish gray. The white marble chimney piece and mantel are draped with crimson plush, and the same fabric covers the frame of the larger plate glass mantel mirror above. Axminister carpet of dark green is well covered with figures in shaded olive and crimson. The mahogany chairs have dark green leather on the seats, with backs of wood. The woodwork of the room is painted a light tint of the walls. The finest features of the room are two large carved mahogany sideboards, one on the west side of the room, the other on the south. The one on the right is a fine specimen of Ciacinnati carving and dates from the administration of Mr. Hayes; the other was procured when the entire room was furnished anew under the direction of Mr. Arthur. Both are laden with plate and fine specimens of the ceramic art. All the movable furniture and plate of these rooms are under the care of the steward, who is required to give bonds to the value of $20,000, before entering upon his duties.

The Millheim Journal.

THURSDAY, APRIL 8TH, 1886.

Published by R. A. BUMILLER.

THE DAYS OF SLAVERY are not past yet as long as the poor man, along with his family is made a slave of by the grasping railroad and other corporations, with monopolists like Jay Gould at the head, until all patience ceases to be a virtue and the laboring man at last turns in the dust like a worm when he is tramped upon. Wages were reduced and cut down until the laboring man on railroads, in mines and manufacturing establishments has arrived at the point of starvation and despair and as a last resort to assert and gain his rights he strikes. From day to day it becomes more manifest that among the many dangers in this country the powerful corporations occupy a most prominent place, and money kings seem to wield their sceptres with as much monarchism as the potentates of the old world. At the same time labor is becoming conscious of its power and exercises it by organizing against capital and its undue demands. Such is the intricate state of affairs at present and it is difficult to see how and when it will end. Both factors, labor and capital, take a stubborn and antagonistic stand, neither seems to be willing to yield. The question of arbitration had been under considerati on several times between Gould and t he striking element, but the former is adverse to any settlement which does not meet his money-making ideas exactly and so the labor situation on the Gould lines remains in a dead-lock. Meanwhile the people and its representatives in the legislative halls are at a loss for a remedy or a satisfactory solution of this perplexing problem.

PENNSYLVANIA'S rapid growth was recently mentioned in a document sent to the legislature of New York by Comptroller Chapin, of that state, setting forth that in the last twelve years Pennsylvania's increase of population was about 61,000 more than New York's. Up to this time the old Keystone occupied a secondary position to its proud northern neighbor. The Empire state, owing to its vast commercial avenues by land and water, was always considered the superior. But in the last twenty years Pennsylvania took great strides in developing her natural advantages and her coal, iron, oil and natural gas are telling factors in giving the Keystone a fair chance of becoming as important as the Empire. This statement will naturally be a source of pleasure and pardonable pride to Pennsylvania citizens who take any interest at all in the advancement of their native state.

ONE of James G. Blaine's preliminary maneuvers in paving his way to the Presidential candidacy in 1888 is to kill off the possible and probable other aspirants to that position. Vermont's senator, Edmunds, was first to be done away with and Blaine's New York mouth piece, the Tribune, is at present engaged in working out Edmunds' defeat in being re-elected to the Senate. The next man to be attended to is General Logan and Blaine's agents in the Senate are beginning to snarl at the Illinois senator with the object of wiping him out as a future Presidential candidate. This is taking time by the forelock but there will be fun in the camp before Blaine's maneuvers have gone a great ways.

THE EARLY CLOSING SCHEME which is at present being agitated in Philadelphia meets with much favor from many wholesale and retail merchants in that city. The petitions which the Half-Holiday League are circulating requests all dealers to close their stores at 1 P. M. on Saturdays, and thus give the thousands of male and female employes more chance to rest from their week's labors and prepare themselves for a proper observance of the Lord's day. The wholesale dealers generally endorse the movement but fear that there will be a lack of union among the retailers. Many of Philadelphia's clergymen also express themselves in favor of the move.

SOLDIERS' WIDOWS shall receive their increased pensions at once and without application or surrendering their certificates. Such were the orders issued by Commissioner Black to the Pension agents and we are sure the widows will be well pleased with that order.

EX-PRESIDENT ARTHUR'S health has greatly improved again. Secretary Manning's condition is also much better, but his physician says that his recovery will be slow and tedious, and it will take some time before he may be pronounced out of danger.

THE Philadelphia Times says that despite strikers, lock-outs, floods and fires, the business condition of the country, as indexed by the record of business failures, continues to improve. The mercantile agencies state that the business failures in the United States for the first quarter of 1886 number 3,203, with liabilities of $29,000,000, as against 3,658 failures, with liabilities of $48,000,000 during the same period in 1885. The liabilities for the quarter just closed are less than for any simular quarter since 1873. The decline in liabilities is greatest in the Middle States, where they amount to $6,859,000, as against $17,713,000 in the first quarter of 1885 and $13,000,000 for the same period in 1884.

A POINTED REMARK was made in the House on Friday by Mr. Lowry, of Illinois, when during the discussion of the arbitration bill, and in referring to the strike on the Missouri Pacific Railroad, he said that "if Jay Gould was hung to a lamp-post in New York it would be a blessing to the community." We do not have a bit of doubt that there are thousands of people, of all classes in the Union, who feel like saying "Amen" to Mr. Lowry's opinion.

THE REPUBLICANS carried the day in Cincinnati on Monday when they elected their whole city ticket by a majority ranging from 4000 to 7000.

The Labor Arbitration Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The House passed the Labor Arbitration Bill yesterday—yeas, 195; nays, 30. It will go to the Senate, where, some believe, it will be defeated.

Miscellaneous News.

A Heavy Snow in the West.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 1.—Dispatches from Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin announce a heavy fall of snow during the last forty-eight hours ranging from 4 to 15 inches in various places.

Little Boy Drowned.

LOCK HAVEN, April 2.—Yesterday afternoon Willie Ruel Barrows, aged 4 years, son of Mrs. S. E. Barrows was playing on the river bank, when he fell in and was drowned. The body has not been recovered.

He Played with Matches.

NORRISTOWN, April 2.—Linford Harvey, aged 7 years, a son of Harry Harvey, of Doylestown, was playing with matches yesterday, when his clothing was ignited, and the little fellow so badly burned that he died shortly after.

A Farmer Drowned in the Susquehanna.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 2.—Moses Griffith, aged 45 years, a highly respected farmer of Port Bowkley, put off in a boat in the Susquehanna this afternoon to get some driftwood. The swollen current carried the boat away and upset it, and Griffith was drowned.

Mr. Powderly Seriously Ill.

SCRANTON, Pa., April 4.—General Master Workman Powderly is no better to-day. He is unable to swallow any food, and can speak only in whispers on account of his swollen throat. His side pains him constantly, and he gets but little rest either night or day. He has set up none since last Wednesday. Callers are not allowed to see him.

Lively Selinsgrove.

SELINSGROVE, Pa., April 5.—Citizens of Selinsgrove have raised $35,000 to construct a building for the Watsontown boot and shoe factory, and the firm expects to move to the new location about the 1st of July. Twenty-six families will move from Watsontown here with the factory. It is expected a nail factory will be erected here also in the near future. Selinsgrove presents an animated and lively appearance.

The Wheat Outlook.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 2.—Seventeen hundred reports, covering every important wheat county in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Kansas and Missouri say the present prospects of the growing crop are very favorable in Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, and Ohio, fair to good in Michigan, and poor in Kansas. All show an important improvement since the recent rains. The prospect averages even better than two years ago. The area sown is larger than the amount harvested on last crop. Reserves of old wheat moderate, but Michigan has over one-fourth of last crop remaining. Half of the farmers are disposed to sell. Country roads bad.

Accident at the Jefferson Medical College.

At the annual banquet of the Alumni Assobiation of Jefferson Medical College to the Faculty and Class of 1886, which was held at Natatorium Hall, Philadelphia, last Friday evening, twenty physicians were precipitated into a pit a distance of about 10 feet, by the giving away of the floor. The accident was caused by the breaking of a sill along the side of the hall on which the cross-beams rested. This let the floor down on one side only, forming an inclined plane, down which the men and piano slid to the bottom of the pool. It was found that John G. Goe, of Ohio, a graduate had been caught beneath the heavy piano and was badly hurt internally. Five others received painful but not serious injuries while the rest escaped uninjured.

Millions of Logs Swept Down the River.

HUNTINGDON, April 2.—The boom across the Raystown branch of the Juniata river near its mouth, two miles below this city, has been broken by the great pressure caused by the high water, and a million feet of logs, belonging to P. & A. Flynn, have been swept out into the river. Some of them will be retaken before reaching the Susquehanna, but many have escaped beyond recovery and the loss will be thousands of dollars. Messrs. Flynn had a large number of men at work during the past winter taking out their logs in the Paradise Furnace property, this county. The headwaters of the Raystown branch are in the southern part of the State, and the recent heavy rain there has raised the stream six feet aboye ordinary level.

The Floods of Last Week.

Several of the Southern States suffered great damages to stock and property and a loss of many lives. In Alabama thousands of horses, mules, cattle and hogs have been swept away. Corn, cotton seed and provisions were destroyed and the reports of drowning in that state foot up to fourteen persons. Several hundred persons, mostly negroes, have been shut up for two days without food.

Throughout East and Middle Tennessee the floods covered a large territory and in the city of Chattanooga about 2000 people are homeless. Reports from Charlestown, Tenn., say that all bridges over the streams tributary to the Hiawassee have been washed away.

At Richmond, Virginia, the water submerged all the principal streets and did great damages to the Richmond and Allegheny Railroad. Charlestown, W. Va., was half submerged by the flood. News from Point Pleasant, at the mouth of the Kanawha river, says the Ohio river lacks but a few feet of being equal to the great flood years ago. In flooded districts of the city many hundreds of people who lived in small houses are great sufferers, many having lost their possessions.

A Chapter of Tuesday's Important Events Given in a Condensed Form.

A SEA OF FLAMES.

The most destructive fire that ever visited LaCrosse, Wisconsin, broke out in John Paul's lumber yards at that place on Tuesday. The fire laid waste ten blocks, which included two of the largest lumber yards in Wisconsin and some eighty small houses. Fully 1,000 men are thrown out of employment, and 400 persons rendered homeless. Careful estimates of loss, places it at between eight hundred thousand and one million dollars.

A GREAT STORM.

Reports from Pittsburg state that rain and snow have fallen without interruption for twenty-four hours. The rivers are rising at all points, and a high stage of water is apprehended.

Railroad travel is impeded on nearly all lines. The heavy rain has loosened the treacherous earth which rests in a threatening manner at many places. On the Panhandle Road and between this city and Mansfield, Pa., eight miles from here, fifteen landslides have been reported. In some places large sections of the hills alongside the road rushed down on the track. Telegraphic communication East and West is much retarded, the sleet breaking down the wires.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 9.—The river, after being stationary nearly all day yesterday, began to rise and continued, until at 7 this morning it had reached 54 feet and 2 inches. Snow is still falling. It has reached a depth of nearly a foot here.

CHICAGO, April 6.—A heavy snow storm, accompanied by high winds, has resulted in practically cutting off all telegraphic communication between the West and New York. The storm center is near Buffalo and extends north into Canada, and south covering Cleveland, Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Detroit, and even south of the Ohio River.

DETROIT, April 6.—The present storm is undoubtedly the worst experienced in the State for many years. Traffic in the city is almost entirely suspended. The entire southern part of the State is covered with snow.

In Pennsylvania news come from Easton, Mt. Carmel, Norristown, Reading, Lock Haven, Williamsport that the rivers are rapidly rising and that a great flood is anticipated.

NO END TO THE STRIKE.

RECALL OF THE ORDER TO RESUME WORK.

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—At an early hour this morning the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor issued a statement recalling the order for the men on strike to resume work. The following is the full text of the document.

At the conference held in New York between Gould and associates and the General Executive Board the following was mutually agreed upon: "That the officials are willing to meet a committee of employes without discrimination who are actually in the employ of the road at the time such committee is appointed, to adjust with them any grievance they may have." The Executive Board, upon arriving in St. Louis, having been informed that Mr. Hoxie had refused to comply with the agreement as all parties to the conference understood it, waited upon him to ascertain his intention of carrying out the same, and received the following reply: That only 50 per cent. of the former force would be employed; that he would consider personal applications only and use his own pleasure in acting on them without the dictation of any society. This being in direct violation of the agreement, the General Board believes that the refusal was for the purpose of stock-jobbing, using the organization as a veil to further their ends. We, therefore, recall the order given to the men to return to work, the road having made it impossible to fulfill the same. The matter now stands as it did before the order to resume work was issued—in the hands of those districts interested—and the General Board will render all assistance to carry out the demand of the men for justice.

Secretary Turner, of the General Executive Board, when asked this evening what further action the Board intended to take, said:

We have turned this matter over to the district assemblies and they can now take any action they see fit. Mr. Hoxie has broken the agreement made at the conference held in New York, and not only has he refused to re-employ the strikers, but he has discharged all the men whom we had not asked to come out—yardmasters, their assistants and others whom we thought best should stay in their positions—simply because they were Knights. It is now not improbable the strike among the Southwestern Knights will become general.

A new development in the strike on the east side of the river, and which occasioned considerable surprise and uneasiness among the railway officials, occurred this morning, when the Chicago and Alton switch engineers struck. They say they will not go back to work until the trouble between the railroads and their employes shall have been settled, and are confident that the Brotherhood will support them.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 5.—All is quiet here. A few trains have been sent out, and men are busy getting others ready. Governor Ireland is here. The Adjutant General is in charge of the troops, which consist of 326 men and two pieces of artillery.

Governor Ireland has ordered the Missouri Pacific Company to move its trains, whether they are loaded or not. In accordance with this order freight trains have been moving all day. Captain Smith, with his State Rangers, arrived this morning. It is not thought that any more troops will be ordered unless further trouble occurs.

HANNIBAL, Mo., April 5.—All the strikers who returned to work on Friday last, pending arbitration, struck again to-day by order of the General Executive Board. The switch engines were run into the round-house and killed. Five freight trains left during the morning for Sedalia.

Other Labor Notes.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 5.—The Cabinet-makers Union has decided to demand the eight-hour system on May 1. The men who do piece work will demand an increase of 20 per cent. in wages.

Pottstown, Pa., April 5—The American Wood Paper Company, at Spring City, has closed its pulp department indefinitely, throwing out of employment over one-half of the employes.

Jersey City, April 5.—The Painters' Union of this city has informed the boss painters that hereafter it will demand $3 per day of ten hours work, with eight hours on Saturday. About a dozen firms have already complied with the demand. In Hoboken the plumbers agree to work for $3 per day of nine hours.

Albany, N. Y., April 5—The Carpenters' Union, of this city, embracing over 900 journeymen, struck this morning.

Lynn, Mass., April 5.—Keene Bros. have surrendered to the Knights of Labor, and signed an agreement to reinstate the discharged Skowhegan employes; to adopt arbitration in future differences; to furnish their employes with work; to abstain from discriminating against Knights, and to abide by the decision of the Knights as to which of the firm's Maine employes shall be discharged.

Rutland, Vt., April 5.—The seventy-five cutters employed in the Lake Shore Slate Quarry at Castleton, who were getting 40 cents a cubic foot for tunneling, have struck for 50 cents. They refused 45 cents.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 5.—The printers in the Times, Union, Evening Herald and Morning News offices struck to-night for an advance to 35 cents per 1000 ems. The proprietors of the Times refused the advance, and have declared their office non-union. They will publish half sheets to-morrow.

—The Keystone Journal is the name of a new paper to be published at Logansville, Clinton Co., in the near future by Scott Currin. Scott is the son of John Currin, who in former years lived near the toll gate north of town. He is a practical printer and has been working on the Clinton Democrat and the Mifflinburg Times of late.

A COAL FAMINE AT BELLEFONTE.—Tuesday's Harrisburg Patriot contains the following item of news:

BELLEFONTE, April 5.—The effect of the strike in the Clearfield coal region is beginning to be felt in this neighborhood in the way of a coal famine. Already some of the manufacturing enterprises are suffering. The nail factory has been compelled to shut down and the flouring mills are threatened with a similar trouble. Unless the difficulties are adjusted all the other manufacturing establishments will be compelled to close.

—At a regular meeting of the School Board of Millheim borough on Monday evening a resolution was unanimously adopted that after the spring term of '86 none of the school rooms of this borough shall be granted to persons not in possession of a valid certificate from the County Superintendent.

Our school board seems to be determined to do things in perfect order and this late resolution is certainly a commendable feature in their earnest endeavors.

—The Lutheran church council at one of their recent meetings authorized A. C. Musser, Supt. of Fairview Cemetery, to order an additional lot of iron fence, of the same price and style as the first lot, for the balance of the front of said cemetery, with a small gate at the eastern extremity. Mr. Jon. Harter was given the contract to furnish the necessary lumber for a substantial wooden fence to be constructed around the remaining three sides of the cemetery. As soon as the weather permits it is the intention of the council to have the cemetery put in first-class order in every respect.

—D. G. Smith, the teacher of North street school, which closed its winter term on the 1st of April, reports the following: No. of scholars on roll, males 34, females 32, total 66. No. in attendance during last month, males 25, females 22, total 47. Average of attendance during month, males 20, females 17, total 37. Average attendance during term, males 22, females 21, total 22. Per cent. of attendance during month, males 80, females 77, total 79. Per cent. of attendance during term, males 75, females 80, total 78. Visitors: Misses Minnie Reesman, Sadie Deininger, Clara Reifsnyder, Virginia Swartz, Alice Ulrich, May Hartman, Ella Frain, Carrie Diehl, Ella Walizer, Annie Mowery, Messrs. Adolph Miller, T. M. Osman, Daniel Auman, Prof. P. J. Auman.

TRIBUTE OF ESTEEM.—The following preamble and resolutions were acted upon and unanimously adopted at the regular session of the U. B. Sunday school of Millheim, April 4th, 1886:

WHEREAS it has fallen to our lot to lose two of our most efficient teachers and active workers in the vineyard of our Lord.

Resolved, that it is with deep regret that we part with sisters Carrie Lyter and Mahala Stephens and that our best wishes and our prayers, as well as grateful remembrance follow them to their new home.

Resolved, that we cheerfully recommend them to the confidence of the people in their present place of residence, assuring them that they will find these ladies earnest workers for the cause of Christ and the upbuilding of the Redeemer's Kingdom.

Resolved, that these resolutions be entered upon the minutes of our school and published in the Millheim Journal and in the Intinerant.

YOUR LOCAL PAPER.—Ex-Senator David Davis recently made the following sound remarks about the home local paper, which we ask our readers to peruse and then call the attention of non-subscribers to the article:

Every year a local paper gives from $100 to $5,000 in free lines for the sole benefit of the vicinity in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other ten men, and in all fairness, man with man, he ought to be supported; not because you may happen to like him or admire his writing, but because a local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be brilliant or crowded with great thoughts, but financially it is more of a benefit to a community than the preacher or teacher. Understand us now; we don't mean morally or intellectually, but financially, and yet on the moral question you will find the local papers are on the right side of the question. To-day the editors of local papers do the most work for the least money of any men on earth.

A DRUGGIST'S VERDICT.—W. E. George, one of the principal druggists of Philipsburg, Pa., writes:

"J. A. McDonald, Reedsville, Pa.
Dear Sir:—One of the most prominent citizens of our city and a gentleman well-known and highly respected in the surrounding country, called at our store and voluntarily offered to go before a justice of the peace and testify in an affidavit to the virtue of your Blood Purifier, saying that he had used but three bottles, and was now entirely cured of a distressing and long continued attack of erysipelas, after having tried a number of other remedies without receiving any noticeable benefit. Please send us one dozen by express. We never had a medicine in our store that sells as readily or gave such universal satisfaction as your Blood Purifier."

For scrofula, erysipelas, tetter, salt rheum, skin diseases, humors, sores, eruptions, pimples, blotches, swellings, tumors, boils, ulcers, scald head, ring worm, syphillis, and all blood disorders, no remedy ever devised equals in power and efficacy McDonald's Great Blood Purifier or Sarsaparillian Alterative. Warranted. Seventy-five cents per bottle at all dealers in medicine.

ROLLER FLOUR FOR SALE.—The undersigned will in the future keep on hand a supply of the Oriental Roller Flour, manufactured by Messrs. Kurtz & Son, Centre Hall. Having added another capacity to their mill, they are now able to put before the public a more superior quality of flour than is offered anywhere in the county.
tf A. J. HARTER.

—The Millheim Town Council is giving out the contract for the construction of a first-class stone crossing over Main street between Musser's hotel and the new hardware building of Musser & Smith. The specifications call for two rows of stone, each 18 inches in width, with a dressed surface and good cobbling between the rows and at the sides.

Communicated.

A Sunday School lesson review for the last quarter was given in the auditorium room of the Lutheran church by the Lutheran Sunday school on Sunday the 28th ult. The exercises were pleasant and profitable. Addresses were made by Supt. J. H. Musser, Asst. Supt. W. H. Stover and Prof. Johnson. The most solemn and impressive part of the exercises was the address delivered by Supt. J. H. Musser in behalf of the school to the family of L. D. Kurtz, who by their moving away have found cause to sever their connection with this school. Particular reference was made to Mrs. Kurtz as to the part she took in the instruction of the infant class and to Miss Minnie, as assistant chorister both in the Sabbath school and choir. Miss Kurtz had taken a very prominent part in the choir as the leading soprano and very often acted as organist in public services. The loss of Mr. K. and his family will be greatly felt in both the Sabbath school and congregation. The prayers and good will of the school go with them.

NOTICE.—Since it has become the duty of the undersigned to see that certain ordinances of the borough of Millheim are enforced, especially section 16 of the general ordinances, which forbids the disturbing of the peace and general good order of the citizens by profanity, obscure language, noise and disorderly conduct generally; and section 22, which forbids the assembling together of men, boys, or other persons on the streets corners, sidewalks or crossings, in such a manner as to block up and obstruct the free passage of such streets, sidewalks and crossings: Now this is to notify all persons that the said ordinance will be enforced against all offenders, and without distinction in favor of sex, as girls are often more boisterous and rude than boys.

Nor do I consider it my duty to give repeated or verbal notices to individuals, but think that this one and general notice should be sufficient, and hope it will promote the peace and good order of the town, without the necessity on my part to invoke the aid of the law.

WOLF'S STORE.

Mrs. Squire Corman and daughter, of Rebersburg, were visiting and bidding adieu to their many friends around here, before leaving for Valley Falls, Kansas, where they expect to locate permanently.

H. G. Royer, the active and energetic implement agent for the Baltimore and Ohio Mfg. Co. has one of his splendid self-binding machines set up in a conspicuous place on his premises, no doubt to give farmers a good chance to examine the machine thoroughly and thus induce them to buy one.

Among those of our young folks who expect to attend Prof. C. L. Gramley's select school at Rebersburg, opening on the 19th inst., we find the names of Miss Mamie Royer, Messrs. Ammon E. Strayer, Chas. Haines, Geo. Wate, and Wm. Zeigler. Success to you all.

Daniel Weaver is one of our "go ahead" men. He has already an immense amount of lumber on hand, in fact he has half of his logs cut up, while heretofore at this season of the year the mill had been idle. That's business, Dan.

The flits on the first instant were as follows: "Fellty on der Meel," Harvey N. Bierly, Luther Klinefelter and Gen Wolf.

John W. Scholl is hauling lumber to Centre Hall for his son-in law, Dr. G. W. Hosterman, who expects to erect a handsome residence there this summer.

John S. Emerick is getting ready to go to the metropolis for a supply of spring goods.

Jesse Garrett, supervisor of roads for this end of Miles township, has already done considerable work on the mountain road to Woodward, which was greatly damaged by the late heavy rains.

Rev. Bassom preached his introductory sermon on Sunday to a rather small audience on account of the unpleasant weather. But the few who heard him went away greatly pleased.

Wm. Smith is the only reliable weather prophet in these parts. Call on him and procure one of his latest editions of 100 year almanacs and you can't go wrong in foretelling the weather yourself.

AARONSBURG.

Snow, rain and mud—plenty of it and to spare.

The robin and wren keep up the music and seem determined to stay notwithstanding the inclement weather.

Rev. Cur, Presbyterian, occupied the pulpit in the M. E. church of this place on last Sunday evening.

Assessor W. E. Keen passed from house to house in the beginning of the week attending to his duties. A few questions, a scratch, an oath and he was off like a dart.

No trouble to raise the funds, but it will require good engineering to keep it from sliding down the hill—the board walk which is under contemplation of being built from Chas. Stover's house to the Lutheran church.

Different requests have been made of Rev. J. A. Bright, who we are pleased to state, arrived here from Ellsworth, Kansas, on last Friday, to deliver his very popular [in the West] lecture on Oddfellowship, either here or in Millheim. The Reverend gentleman will, no doubt, submit to the many requests providing proper arrangements can be made as to the time and place. We would propose Millheim as the proper place.

The communion services in the Luth. church on last Sabbath morning and evening, notwithstanding the inclement weather, was well attended. About 140 persons partook of the Lord's Supper, 33 of whom presented their names for membership in this congregation. The pastor, Rev. Deitzler was assisted by Rev. J. A. Bright, the latter gentleman addressing the congregation in the evening in the English language.
ANOTHER.

'YOU KNOW HOW IT IS YOURSELF.'—There is not a particle of doubt but you have to this day a vivid recollection of the horrible, nauseating doses of worm-seed tea or syrups forced down your throat twenty years ago by an over-solicituous aunt or grandmother who pronounced your case worms. You will be able to appreciate a vermifuge like McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders. The most effectual and reliable worm destroyer of the age. So easy and pleasant to take the patient will never know a medicine is being administered. Money refunded to dissatisfied buyers.

Rebersburg and Vicinity.

Prof. C. L. Gramley will teach a term of select school in this town during the forepart of the coming summer.

John Breon had the misfortune of losing one of his best horses. The animal got its leg kicked off by another horse. Quite a loss for John.

Reuben Smull, of Rockville, and Sam'l, Lose, of Rebersburg are on the sick list.

Next Friday evening the extra term of the singing school in our burg will close. All the members of the class seem to be well pleased with their teacher, Prof. Bierly.

The busy season of the year for the farmers is at hand and they all seem ready to go to work in earnest.

John Gramley is at present engaged in making squirrel cages of which trade he seems to be master.

Our new P. M. just knows how to run a postoffice, although some people think him a little too strict. But John makes sure he is right and then goes ahead.

An interesting law suit took place in 'Squire Carlin's office last Saturday. The room was crowded with spectators.

Preparations are being made for building another new house on Guiswite & Co's timberland. The house, when finished, will be occupied by Daniel Brumgart, of Sugarvalley, who is a partner in said firm.

Perry Condo, who was off to Nittany on business, returned home on Saturday with a fine horse which he bought over there,

Many of the temporary bridges which some of our farmers had constructed to cross the runs on their farms were swept away by the high water resulting from the late rains.

Wm. Bierly is the proprietor of quite a tony confectionery and cigar shop. Wm. is a accommodating young gent and knows how to sell sweets.

Our landlord, Mr. Moyer, is off to Union county, on special business.
SQUIBOB.

—Now that sudden and violent changes of weather occur every twenty four hours, almost everyone has a troublesome cold, which, if neglected, may produce results that may trouble you for the remainder of your life. Dr. Kessler's Celebrated English Cough Medicine is especially deserving praise in this class of complaints. It never fails! It never disappoints! Instructions for treatment of croup and whooping-cough also accompany each bottle. Every family, especially where there is children, should have a bottle. Dissatisfied buyers can have their money refunded.

SMITH TOWN.

Still more mud.

Mr. Breon, of Brushvalley, is staying in our little burg this summer. Miss Alice Bierly, of Madisonburg, will also make her home among us the coming summer. We hope they will have a pleasant stay.

Mrs. Margaret Stover has again returned to Millheim. She seems to prefer town life to the country.

Last week Alfred Keen moved on his father's farm, and William Gary, of Nittany Valley, moved on Reifsnyder's farm, where Keen vacated. We heard they had a graud "hop" in honor of the occasion.

Mr. Nerhud has several teams at hauling material for his new house. The carpenters will begin work on it as soon as the weather permits.

H. K., our horse dealer, left on Monday for other parts to buy up horses.

An Efficient Remedy

In all cases of Bronchial and Pulmonary Affections is AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. As such it is recognized and prescribed by the medical profession, and in many thousands of families, for the past forty years, it has been regarded as an invaluable household remedy. It is a preparation that only requires to be taken in very small quantities, and a few doses of it administered in the early stages of a cold or cough will effect a speedy cure, and may, very possibly, save life. There is no doubt whatever that

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has preserved the lives of great numbers of persons, by arresting the development of Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Pulmonary Consumption, and by the cure of those dangerous maladies. It should be kept ready for use in every family where there are children, as it is a medicine far superior to all others in the treatment of Croup, the alleviation of Whooping Cough, and the cure of Colds and Influenza, ailments peculiarly incidental to childhood and youth. Promptitude in dealing with all diseases of this class is of the utmost importance. The loss of a single day may, in many cases, entail fatal consequences. Do not waste precious time in experimenting with medicines of doubtful efficacy, while the malady is constantly gaining a deeper hold, but take at once the speediest and most certain to cure,

Woman and Horses.

It is not a little remarkable that handsome women and handsome horses so generally go together? But it is a fact. Take the blue grass region of Kentucky, for instance. There you will find the women remarkable for their beauty and fine physical points. The same is the case with their horses, which are widely celebrated. Take, also, Baltimore. That city is said to be one of the most remarkable in the world for the beauty of its women. It is equally noticeable for its splendid horses. Take, also, Arabia. The Arab man is not a 'beauty spot,' but many of the women are of such wondrous beauty that they are called 'houris,' that is to say, angels that live on earth. The Arab horse is as distinguished for beauty and fine points as the Arab woman. And so you can go on indfinitely, finding beautiful women the rule wherever you find fine horses the rule. The only exception probably is the island of Jersey, which is somewhat remarkable for the beauty of its women, while its horses are not remarkable for any fine points. Its cows, though, are thought to top the world for milkers and also for a certain exquisite sort of beauty in the eyes of cow fanciers. Its ladies, therefore, seem to run more after the cow than the horse.

It seems to be well established then, that if a community would improve the beauty of women it must begin the good work with its horses, and in some localities with its cows. It would be easy to explain this, but I am only calling attention to facts, and not explaining anything.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken by your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world Price 25 cents a bottle.

Faith Illustrated.

The patter of little feet on my office floor, and a glad voice exclaiming: "Papa, I'se come to 'scort you home!" made known to me the presence of my little 6-year old darling, who often came at that hour "to take me home," as she said. Soon we were going hand-in-hand on the homeward way.

"Now, papa, let's play I was a poor little blind girl, and you must let me hold your hand tight, and you lead me along and tell me where to step and how to go."

So the merry eyes were shut tight, and we began. "Now step up, now down," and so on till we safely arrived, and the darling was nestling in my arms, saying gleefully, "Wasn't it nice, papa, I never peeped once!"

"But," said mamma, didn't you feel afraid you'd fall, dear?"

With a look of trusting love came the answer:

"Oh, no, mamma! I had a tight hold on papa's hand, and I knew he would take me safely over the hard places."

Surface Indications

What a miner would very properly term "surface indications" of what is beneath, are the Pimples, Sties, Sore Eyes, Boils, and Cutaneous Eruptions with which people are annoyed in spring and early summer. The effete matter accumulated during the winter months, now makes its presence felt, through Nature's endeavors to expel it from the system. While it remains, it is a poison that festers in the blood and may develop into Scrofula. This condition causes derangement of the digestive and assimilatory organs, with a feeling of enervation, languor, and weariness—often lightly spoken of as "only spring fever." These are evidences that Nature is not able, unaided, to throw off the corrupt atoms which weaken the vital forces. To regain health, Nature must be aided by a thorough blood-purifying medicine; and nothing else is so effective as which is sufficiently powerful to expel from the system even the taint of Hereditary Scrofula.

The medical profession indorse AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and many attestations of the cures effected by it come from all parts of the world. It is, in the language of the Hon. Francis Jewett, ex-State Senator of Massachusetts and ex-Mayor of Lowell, "the only preparation that does real, lasting good."

Vegetable Balsamic

ELIXIR

For the cure of

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir is used its efficacy is at once manifested, convincing the most incredulous that

CONSUMPTION

Is not incurable, if properly attended to.—At its commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflamation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever, and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the CAUSE, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions, free.

QUAKER

Is the Best

TABLE SAUCE.

Thousands of articles are now manufactured that in former years had to be imported, paying high import duty as it is now being done on Lea & Perrins table sauce; the QUAKER TABLE SAUCE takes its place; it has been pronounced by competent judges just as good and even better. The QUAKER SAUCE has Slowly but surely gained great importance and is replacing the very best imported sauce on the shelf of the grocer, the tables of the restaurant and the tables of the rich and poor men, greatly prized and relished by all on account of its piquancy, aroma, taste, strength and pureness. The inventor has by years of study of the secret virtues contained in the aromatic spices of the Indies and China, such as mace, nutmeg, cinnamon, genuine Jamaica ginger, and peppers and bulbs of trees unknown to most men, and by long practice succeeded to combine their extracts in such a liquid form as we now find it, of agreeable taste, and so invigorating as to be taken in place of stomach bitters. By manufacturing this sauce here, heavy import duties and freights are saved, and it is sold at a lower figure to the dealer, who making a better profit on Quaker Sauce can sell it to the consumer cheaper than he very best imported article hardly equaling ours. If your grocer does not keep it, write us for prices, etc. Sold in bottles or by the gallon.
